TECH · LAW

Humiliated lawyers fined $5,000 for submitting ChatGPT hallucinations in court: 'I heard about this new site, which I falsely assumed was, like, a super search engine'

BY RACHEL SHIN
June 23, 2023 at 9:41 AM PDT

Lawyers who filed legal documents with false citations generated by ChatGPT have been fine

ERIC MCGREGOR—LIGHTROCKET/GETTY IMAGES

MIT Technology Review

Featured Topics Newsletters Events Podcasts SIGN IN

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Why Meta's latest large language model survived only three days online

Galactica was supposed to help scientists. Instead, it mindlessly spat out biased and incorrect nonsense.

By Will Douglas Heaven November 18, 2022

Air Canada must honor re invented by airline's chatb

Air Canada appears to have quietly killed its costly chatbot support.

ASHLEY BELANGER - 2/16/2024, 12:12 PM